National Mesothelioma Awareness Day
Local workers concerned about upcoming asbestos work at the Jefferson Arms building in downtown St. Louis held a rally at St. Louis City Hall today. Workers are concerned that the work could put workers and the surrounding community at risk for Mesothelioma.

“We are standing in solidarity with the Laborers,” said Al Bond, EST. “This work should be done by trained workers. If the developer fails to perform the asbestos work safely the entire building can be contaminated for workers in the construction phase which puts them at risk.”

No Surprise Here

Where are the worst places for workers in America? Not surprisingly, they're all "Right to Work" states. An Oxfam America report reveals that the ten worst states to work in include Louisiana, Tennessee and North Dakota, while the 10 best states for workers are all non-Right to Work states.

We the People

Labor unions have been - and always will be - a cornerstone of American democracy. As this thoughtful piece points out, when unions die, democracy dies with it. "Giving ordinary Americans a say over how their workplaces are governed is just as fundamental to democracy as giving them the ballot."

Our Sisters

The number of women getting into the construction industry continues to rise. Some are finding it too hard to make ends meet in today's economy, while others are following a lifelong passion for building things. Whatever the reason, our sisters are becoming a more familiar site on the job.
Awarded: This past week, MOWIT honored the many dedicated (and often unsung) women working in the trades. Congrats to Cindy Frank (Tradeswoman of the Year) and Lynda Mueller-Drendel (Advocate of the Year.) Pictured: Mueller-Drendel, MOWIT president Beth Barton and Frank.

On the Job: On Tuesday, Keith Taylor, Director of Organizing, Todd Hake, Director of Jurisdiction and Larry Schallom, Business Representative, held a jobsite luncheon for the carpenters building the Boland Place Apartments in Richmond Heights. Keith Taylor discussed the value of carpenters building our communities, our union strong membership, market share and the new Carpenters Wellness Center. Boland Place Apartments is a Impact Strategies project; Superintendent, Frank Malone. Impact Strategies and Henges Interiors Flooring Insulation attended the luncheon.

Can you remember the days of old when your physician felt like part of your family because they truly cared that much? The Cerner Care model is for patients (our members) to spend as little time as possible in the waiting room and a good length of time with the physician. Your physician will get to know you, your family, to celebrate your milestones and work with you when you need extra help. Having multiple services in-house at the Wellness Center allows for the physician to refer to trusted care providers when necessary.

MEET YOUR CERNER CARE TEAM MEMBERS!
Continue to meet the team members who are so excited to serve you each week!
Don't forget! The St. Louis Health Fair will include tours of the new Wellness Center. The Care Team will all be there, ready to meet you and your families while on your tour!
